CAB On-Boarding Packet

December 9, 2019

1) Introduction

Welcome to the Jefferson County PUD Citizen Advisory Board (CAB). As you begin your volunteer service to the PUD and its customers, you undoubtedly will have many questions. The purpose of this packet is to give you an overview and, hopefully, answer some of your questions and provide some resources.

2) Brief History of the PUD

Jefferson County PUD entered the public utilities business in 1979 with the acquisition of the Gardiner water system. For the next 25 years, the PUD acquired, operated, and maintained several water and septic systems. In 2008, the citizens of Jefferson County voted to authorize the PUD to explore a takeover or acquisition of Puget Sound Energy's (PSE) electric business in our county. The sale was finalized in 2010, and the PUD began the operation and maintenance of the electric system in April 2013. The PUD obtained a $115M loan from the USDA Rural Utility Service (RUS) to cover the purchase price and cost of needed capital improvements. Click HERE for more historical information.

The PUD is governed by the Board of Commissioners (BOC) which is comprised of three elected commissioners – one from each PUD district. Commissioners are elected to six-year terms on a rotating basis. Each commissioner is expected to nominate three volunteers from their district to serve on the CAB, giving a total of nine CAB members. CAB members serve three-year terms on a rotating basis within each district. Appointments to the CAB are made by a vote of the BOC.

3) Brief History of the CAB

a) Purpose

Jefferson County PUD is one of the few PUDs in Washington State that has a Citizen Advisory Board. The CAB was created by a BOC Resolution in 2012 (see Resolution 2012-28). The initial goal was to increase public involvement and, after study, provide recommendations to the BOC. The first CAB was intended to serve for only three years.

In September 2014, the BOC passed a resolution stating that the CAB is a valuable advisory instrument of the PUD and should continue indefinitely. The CAB provides advisory reports and recommendations to the BOC after studying topics and hearing public comments. The CAB is only an advisory board; the BOC sets policy for the PUD.

b) Process

The CAB meets once a month, normally on the second Monday. The meetings are open to the public. The CAB Chair presides over the meeting following Roberts Rules of Order for Small Boards. Section 6 in this Packet presents an overview. Meeting minutes are taken and the final minutes voted on at a subsequent meeting. Approved meeting minutes are posted to the PUD website. In addition, a timestamped audio recording of the meeting is also made and posted to the PUD website.

The meeting agenda is prepared in advance of the meeting by the CAB Chair, Vice Chair, and the PUD Consultant – Don McDaniel. The meeting agenda is posted to the PUD website in advance of the CAB meeting.

Most CAB topics are studied in CAB subcommittees. A subcommittee does not consist of more than four CAB members, preferably three. During the CAB meeting, each subcommittee chair presents information, leads discussion, or presents a report and recommendation for a decision by the CAB. If approved by the CAB, recommendations are forwarded to the BOC for their consideration.

c) Past Study Topics

In the initial resolution that established the CAB, the following study topics were defined: energy conservation, green energy, citizen outreach, and other energy related topics.

CAB study topics are approved by the BOC. If the General Manager or individual CAB members want to introduce a topic to be studied, that can be accommodated. Once discussed and approved by the CAB, new study topics are forwarded to the BOC for their approval.

Since being formed in 2012, the CAB has studied quite a number of interesting and sometimes controversial topics. The following table lists the major topics that the CAB has previously studied; some subcommittees/topics are on-going. The table shows the month-year and a brief description of each topic. More details can be found in the official CAB minutes, which are available on the PUD website and in its archive of public records.

You can see additional information in Appendix A regarding briefings the CAB has heard and CAB discussion / decision topics. Many thanks to Gary Rowe for wading through past CAB minutes to compile this information.

4) Governing Documents

There are two governing documents that you should read soon after joining the CAB. The first is BOC Resolution 2018-015. This resolution was passed by the BOC in October 2018. The resolution updates and clarifies the role of the CAB and remains in effect until which time the BOC might amend.

The second governing document are the CAB Operating Guidelines. These guidelines were adopted by the CAB in August 2019 and will remain in effect until modified by the CAB.

By being on the CAB, you agree that you will act in accordance with the policies and procedures of these governing documents. Should you have any questions after reading these documents, please ask the CAB Chair, CAB Vice Chair, or the PUD Consultant, Mr. Don McDaniel.

5) Training Requirements

The CAB and its members are subject to the Washington State Open Public Meetings Act - OPMA (RCW 42.30) and Public Records Act - PRA (RCW 42.56). These laws are often called “Sunshine Laws”. Each CAB member is required by state law to complete the trainings that are identified in RCW 42.30.205 and RCW 42.56.150. Training must be completed within 90 days of assuming your duties as a CAB member. CAB governance requires you to submit a Certificate of Completion to the PUD Public Records Officer (PRO). There is no formal certification process, just your signature on the form provided to affirm that you have taken the required trainings. You may participate in CAB business once you have completed your training and submitted your Certificate of Completion.

To access the required trainings, please see HERE. You are required by law to complete lessons 2 and 3; however, if you are unfamiliar with our state’s Sunshine Laws and government agencies, it is highly recommended that you first complete lesson 1. Each lesson includes a training video, PowerPoint, and other educational materials. Once you have completed the training, fill out the Training Certificate and email a copy of it to the PUD Public Records Officer, Annette Johnson, or hand-carry it to Don McDaniel at the next CAB meeting.

Here are some suggested best practices to help you comply with these RCWs:

a) OPMA

Under the OPMA, a “meeting” of the CAB occurs when a majority of its members (quorum) gathers with the collective intent of transacting CAB business. All meetings must be open to the public, and the public must be given proper notice that a meeting will take place. However, a meeting could occur via phone or email, and such meetings are problematical.

An email and subsequent responses that involve a quorum of CAB members is defined as a “meeting” and would be a violation of the OPMA because, by definition, a series of emails is not open to the public.

Therefore, you should take precautions to never REPLY ALL to an email that was sent to a quorum of the CAB. Any email that you compose to the entire CAB should include, as a reminder, “DO NOT REPLY ALL” in the subject line and “REPLY ONLY TO ME” in the body of the email. However, even these precautions may not be sufficient, depending on how many CAB members participate in the resulting series of emails. This is discussed in the OPMA training materials under topic of “chain”, “serial” or “hub-and-spoke” meetings (which can take place in-person and/or by phone and/or by email).

Note that an OPMA violation would also occur if a meeting were held by a phone conference call.

So, the best practice is to simply limit all CAB business discussions to CAB and CAB subcommittee meetings.

b) Subcommittees of the CAB

As a member of the CAB, you will participate in various subcommittees. Since a meeting is defined under the OPMA as a quorum of CAB members, you need to take care to not discuss any subcommittee topic or business with other CAB members who are not part of the subcommittee. Doing so could constitute a “meeting” as defined by the OPMA and could be a violation.

c) BOC Meetings and Other Public Venues

To avoid any appearance of a “meeting”, care should be taken at BOC meetings and other public meetings not to sit together or congregate with more than four other CAB members. If a quorum of CAB members were to discuss CAB business (take “action”, as defined by the OPMA) as part of a larger event, it could be seen as an OPMA violation.

There could be monetary penalties for an OPMA violation. If a CAB member violates any part of the OPMA with knowledge of the fact, it can result in a personal penalty of $500 (first time) or $1,000 (subsequent instances). It is each CAB member’s responsibility to be cognizant of the circumstances of each meeting.

d) Public Records

The definition of a Public Record is quite broad in nature and all public records are subject to disclosure and production in response to a Public Records Request. As you participate in CAB subcommittees and make written notes and interim/final reports, those are subject to the PRA even if they are on your own personal computer. At certain subcommittee milestones, a best practice is to copy files from your personal computer to a CD or DVD and give those to the PUD Public Records Officer. Doing so during a CAB meeting is a best practice so it becomes recorded in the meeting minutes. Then, you should delete those files from your personal computer. Also know that any text messages are considered public records, so you should refrain from using text messages as you conduct CAB business.

As you can see from the definition of “writings” in the PRA at RCW 42.56.010 - Definitions, public records include not only written documents, but also audio or audio/video recordings, recorded phone messages, and virtually all other forms of recorded information. If you are not sure about whether or not a record is a public record, and for how long it must be retained, ask the PUD Public Records Officer (PRO) for guidance. The PRO has specialized training in this area.

In addition to the visible part of written information, the metadata of each record is also considered to be a matter of public record. Emails are the best example of records where metadata is particularly important; so, for example, it would not be sufficient to print an email and then delete it because much of the metadata would be lost in doing so.

For these reasons, and others, it is essential that you use only your PUD-assigned email address for CAB business (See Section 7). The PUD's email server retains a copy of every email sent and received by any PUD-assigned email address, including any attachments.

If you use any non-PUD email address to send or receive a CAB-related email, you should contact the PUD's PRO for the procedures to follow to ensure that such emails, including the metadata, are properly retained.

In addition to the Washington State Attorney General's website, the Municipal Research and Services Center (MRSC) is a resource which provides policy guidance to Washington state and local government agencies. OPMA and PRA information from the MRSC website is regularly updated and can be found HERE.

6) Roberts Rules of Order Overview

As stated in the CAB Operating Guidelines, Roberts Rules of Order for Small Boards is used during CAB meetings. As a CAB member, you should familiarize yourself with these Rules. You will be provided a resource book or PDF titled Mastering Council Meetings from Jurassic Parliament. It is strongly suggested that you read over the entire book.

Below are a few key points:

- a) Motions: The CAB conducts its business with a vote on a motion. Any CAB member may make a motion. In order to discuss the motion, it must be seconded. After discussion, the CAB Chair asks for a vote. The motion either passes or fails based upon the number of CAB members who vote in favor of the motion. Part II of Mastering Council Meetings is a great resource for you to understand motions.

- b) Discussions: One subject is discussed at a time. Members are recognized by the Chair before speaking. No one member may speak a second time until everyone who wishes to do so has spoken once. No interrupting. Informal discussion without a motion is allowed.
- c) Common Courtesy: All members have an equal voice and are to demonstrate courtesy at all times. Members address their remarks to the Chair.

Additional information from Jurassic Parliament regarding Roberts Rules of Order can be found HERE.

7) Use of PUD-provided Email Address

As a CAB member, you will be provided a PUD email address. The email will be in the form of first initial.lastname@jeffpud.org The PUD Consultant – Don McDaniel or someone from the PUD will let you know when your email address is set up. Once you log in for the first time, you will be asked to set a permanent password.

Your PUD-assigned email address is to be used for CAB business only. See the CAB Operating Guidelines which states “CAB members should only use their PUD-assigned email address to communicate with anyone (PUD, BOC, CAB, public) regarding business of the CAB.” You should refrain from using your personal email for anything CAB related since all emails are subject to disclosure under the PRA. The PUD does not provide cell phones to CAB members. CAB-related text messages on your personal phone may be public records which must be retained and would be subject to disclosure under the PRA. Texting about CAB business should be avoided because (1) it puts an additional record-keeping burden on the Public Records Officer and (2) disclosure of your text messages might be of concern to you.

You should get into the habit of checking your PUD email on a regular basis. It is possible to set up your PUD email so you are sent a text notification when you receive a PUD email. Look HERE to set this up if you want.

8) Current Subcommittees and Workplan

Currently, there are five active CAB subcommittees: Broadband, Low Income, Meter Opt-Out, Workplan, and Governance. Clicking HERE will take you to the CAB page on the PUD website where you can see the CAB members on each subcommittee.

The CAB Workplan is compiled annually and presented to the BOC for their approval. The 2020 Workplan was recently approved at the October 15, 2019 BOC meeting. The Workplan defines the topics that are to be studied by the CAB. The current CAB Workplan is located on the CAB website.
